The CAC

In 1970 Article 12-F, Section 239-X, of the General Municipal Law was passed enabling local municipalities to establish conservation advisory councils or commissions (CACs). As of January 1992, all 20 townes in Dutchess County had established CACs.

The CAC is charged with advising the official municipal bodies active in community planning and promoting wise use of the town's natural resources.

Membership

Section 239-X provides that CACs shall consist of no fewer than three, nor more than nine members. Each member is appointed by the town board for a two year renewable term and serve without compensation.

Membership draws interested citizens from across the community and includes a diversity of talent and expertise. The common commitment is a sincere dedication to the quality of the environment and a willingness to work.
